Green Living

Carpeting in your home can trap environmental hazards that come into your home. This can lead to a buildup of toxins in the air of your home. Carpets also harbor dust mites and other allergens. Your best bet is to replace carpets with hardwood or tile floors. But if you love your carpets, be sure to vacuum them at least once per week and have them professionally cleaned twice a year.

Flavor and Health

There is a world of variety in oils beyond canola and olive oils. On your grocery shelves, you can find varieties of oils including pumpkin seed, walnut, grapeseed, avocado, hazelnut, and pine nut. These oils can impart a unique flavor to your dishes. Use them to sauté fish, meats, or vegetables. They also bring additional nutritional elements to your food. Some of these special oils, especially those that are plant-derived, offer increased immunity protection and can lower levels of LDL cholesterol.

Thoughts from Tim Puliz

Here we are already tapping on September's screen door. Every September, rain or shine, I find myself pondering about what happened to June, July & August; as if I misplaced them in my sock drawer. Of course they're not there – but maybe the closet?

Yes, we have Labor Day to ease us into the next season that "fall"ows summer. Little seasonal humor. Couldn't resist. Anyway, the point is we get that luxurious extra day off...only to hear people start talking about school, Halloween and (gasp!) the holiday season. Argh!

Why, we haven't even celebrated that incredible September 19th event: International Talk Like a Pirate Day! We cannot let that day pass without an "argh" a "matey" a parrot clutching our shoulder and/or a Johnny Depp movie marathon! If pirates don't float your boat (so to gawk) perhaps September 21 will: it is the International Day of Peace.

You have to admit, nobody can deny the merits of that event. We need to highlight it on our calendars and try and remember to literally spread the peace. How? Well, does a co-worker have your number? Does he or she know precisely what to do to push your buttons? Think peace. Don't let them get you riled.

Just flash them the good ol' peace sign and grin. Watch their reaction. Are they taken aback? Are they mirroring your peace sign? Do they look like they're sure you've been in the storeroom too long and lost all your "paper clips"? Probably. But, think how groovy you will feel!

Okay, we'll quit groovin' and head back to 2011. Our sophisticated data storage options and security measures, which we proudly serve you with each and every day, are proof that it's not 1972 anymore. We appreciate you! Can you dig it?

Here's to dynamite September!

Preventing Elder Abuse

The U.S. General Accounting Office published a report on the state of our country's nursing homes. It found that sixteen percent of nursing homes had serious quality problems, which was a decrease from the previous year. The trend downward is good, but this still represents a significant problem in the nursing home industry.

Elder abuse is defined as physical abuse, neglect, financial abuse, abandonment, isolation, or any other treatment that might cause physical or mental pain or suffering directed towards any person aged 65 or older. If your elderly parent is not under your direct care, you should be aware of the signs of elder abuse. These include bruises, scratches, cuts, or other injuries. The use of physical restraints should be carefully examined, as well as indicators such as poor hygiene, unexplained weight loss, bedsores, or falls. Emotional signals can be fear, helplessness, strange stories, withdrawal, confusion, anxiety, or depression.

If your parent is in a care facility, pay close attention to staffing levels and the treatment of other seniors. It is a good idea to visit during various times of the week and day. You have the right to ask to review medical records. You can insist on a personalized and practical plan for care. Many nursing home facilities have residents' or family councils. Join one or start one if there isn't such a group operating. Above all, the key is to stay connected to your parent by visiting frequently or establishing a network of family and friends that make contact with your parent often.

Many of life's failures are men who did not realize how close they were to success when they gave up.

– Thomas Edison

Hope is the most exciting thing in life and if you honestly believe that love is out there, it will come. And even if it doesn't come straight away there is still that chance all through your life that it will.

– Josh Hartnett

Traveling Pets

Many cats and dogs do not travel well in cars. If your pet is sensitive to car travel, talk to your vet about the use of sedatives or travel-sickness medication. You should not give your pet any medication without checking with your vet first to find out if it is appropriate and to get the correct dosage. If your pet does get sick easily, try to plan shorter travel days with lots of rest time during the trip.

Did You Know: Rice

September is National Rice Month.

More rice is produced in Arkansas than in any other U.S. state, with over 46 percent of the U.S. rice production.

Rice is grown on about three million acres of land in the U.S.

Rice is the main dietary staple for more than half of the world's population.

At the International Rice Research Institute Genetic Resources Center in the Philippines, there are over 80,000 different rice samples in cold storage.

Rice is grown on every continent except Antarctica.

One seed of rice yields more than 3,000 grains.

Fifty percent of all the world's rice is eaten within eight miles of where it is grown.

Americans eat about 24 pounds of rice per person per year. Asians eat 300 pounds per person.

White rice can be kept indefinitely on a pantry shelf, while brown rice should be used within six months.

Back to School

Are you looking for a change? It may be time to head back to school. To decide if college is right for you, take these points into consideration.

TAKE A TEST

Many colleges offer career placement tests to help you discover your talents and interests. One test you may be able to skip, however, is the SAT. Many colleges have modified their admissions criteria and offer alternative admissions tests.

LOOK AROUND

Many colleges offer programs specifically designed for working adults. You may find that you only need to attend classes one or two nights a week. Some colleges offer on-site, low-cost day care and other services for parents. You also may be able to take some of your classes by email, video, or Internet.

SAVE A BUCK OR TWO

Scholarships and federal grants are designed to help you afford an education and they don't have any age restrictions. Get information on all the programs you qualify for from the student financial services office. You can also contact the Federal Student Aid Information Center (FSAIC) at 1-800-4-FED-AID or studentaid.ed.gov for more information on government student aid programs.

Renter's Insurance

Take a look around you. Everything you see has value, and you could be vulnerable if you don't have insurance. Many renters think that their possessions are covered by their landlord's policy. But your landlord's policy typically only covers the structure and any liabilities the owner would face. Your possessions are not covered under this type of policy.

Why Do You Need Insurance?

You may think your possessions aren't valuable enough to insure, but add up the cost of replacing everything you have. It is a significant amount of money. If you do not have enough savings to cover these expenses all at once, you need renter's insurance. Many policies also provide personal liability coverage, protecting you in the event that someone is injured at your home.

Isn't It Expensive?

Renter's insurance can cost as little as $15.00 a month. It all depends on how much coverage you want and where you live. Considering that you have no control over circumstances like fire, water damage, or burglary, this is a wise investment and gives you peace of mind.

Where Do I Get Renter's Insurance?

Almost all insurance agents that sell homeowner's insurance also sell renter's insurance. Call several for quotes and choose the one that seems the most comprehensive and affordable for you. If you are interested in buying renter's insurance online, search for renter's insurance and you will find many companies willing to give you quotes by email. One company specializes in renter's insurance with a low deductible and the ability to purchase your policy online. Go to renterscoverage.com for more information.

Getting It All Done

Do you find yourself constantly putting things off? You are not alone! September 6th is Fight Procrastination Day. Everyone suffers from procrastination at one time or another. For some, it is an ongoing battle. There are ways, however, to jump-start your to do list.

BREAK TASKS DOWN INTO SMALL TASKS.

Saying you need to organize your kitchen cabinets can seem like a huge job, but organizing just your silverware drawer may not be so bad. For every big job, make a list of all the parts that need to be done and tackle them one by one. Pretty soon, your big job will be completed without feeling so big.

KNOW YOUR WEAKNESSES.

Take a moment to think about your worst source of procrastination. Is it doing the laundry, making sales calls, planning for dinner? Make this job your number one priority of the day. By accomplishing this task first, you will free yourself up to move forward without it hanging over your head.

DO YOU HAVE 15 MINUTES TO SPARE?

Even in the busiest schedule, most people can find 15 minutes a day. Budget this short time to tackling a project that you've really wanted to get done, but never seem to get to. It seems like a short time, but it is amazing what can be accomplished in this short time. You may find that you spend even longer working on your project once you get started.

REWARD YOURSELF FOR A JOB WELL DONE.

Plan something nice for yourself--a movie, a special meal, a weekend away--but only do this if the project you've been putting off gets done. Share your goals with someone close to you and you will get encouragement along the way.

CURE THE PROBLEM.

Recognize that while procrastination may be caused by simple laziness or boredom, often it is a sense of fear that keeps us from getting started. You may also feel overwhelmed or stressed in general. Take some time to examine whether eliminating some other tasks might help you feel less pressured. If it is fear that is stopping you, working through that anxiety first will help you prepare to get the job done. Most importantly, be ready to admit if the job you are trying to accomplish is really necessary after all. You may find that it is something you'd like to get done, but that doesn't really need to be finished. Giving yourself a break may be the best way to get motivated in the long run, as you will be doing projects when you are more interested in them.
